Subject: Recycletronics - movement of waste between sites

Aaron,

I appreciate your calling me earlier this week to let me know that your business, Recycletronics, is officially closed and out of business. You explained that you will finish processing the remaining e-waste at the facility, but have already stopped receiving new shipments. I asked you about the e-waste and other materials you have stored off-site at other locations, and you explained to me that you intend to move that to the Steuben facility one box at a time and process it.

Please be aware that because you have been speculatively accumulating waste at each of your locations, the waste is a solid waste and is subject to a hazardous waste determination and associated regulatory requirements for movement from one site to another.

Please let me know if you have any questions or need additional information.
